DENBY OPPOSES HAYNES' PLAN TO EMPLOY NAVY THIS WAY

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21.—An unofficial survey is in progress by the Navy Department to determine what facilities are available for carrying any order that might come from President Harding bringing the navy into fight to make the United States "Dry" from the shore line to the three mile limits. While no definite announcement was made known, plans under consideration contemplate a complete cordon of American vessels of some sort for patrolling the three mile limit along the Atlantic coast to Florida. It is known that Commissioner Haynes favors using naval vessels with Secretary Denby opposed on the ground that prohibition enforcement is not a proper naval function.

FROM NEW YORK TO PANAMA IN TWO DAYS—BY AIRSHIP

That's One Feature of U. S. Plans
For Blimp Development—Plan
Flight to Havana in 30 Hours

OTHER ROUTES PLANNED; TAKE ONE-THIRD TIME

WASHINGTON, April, 21.—Thirty hours from New York to Havana—two days from New York to Panama. That is the time set by very aeronautic authorities as the probable schedule to be maintained by a future all-American airship line connecting North and South America.

Demonstration of the practicability of such a Pan-American air service is one of the jobs mapped out for the ZR-1 and ZR-3, monster dirigibles, now nearing completion, the first at Lakehurst, N. J., the second at the Zeppelin plant in Germany.

But from New York to Panama would be only one end of the intercontinental service proposed.

From Panama the route would extend to Guayaquil, Ecuador; to Lima, Peru, and on to Valparaiso, Chile, almost 6000 miles from Broadway.

Five Days vs. 15
But from Valparaiso to Broadway for the rich Chilean or Argentinian seeking business or pleasure in the northern metropolis would be a trip of only five days by air-cruiser instead of 15 by steamship.

New York would find the time necessary to reach the oasis of Havana cut in half.

A special Havana-New York service might be found advisable and profitable.

It is in such services as these, Rear Admiral William Moffett and officials of the naval bureau of aeronautics believe, that commercial transportation by airships will find its greatest future.

Between points otherwise accessible only by steamships or by a combination of steamship and railroad routes, the airship can greatly reduce the time required.

Navy's Big Job

To search out the routes where airship lines could best perform such service and to demonstrate the practicability of their operation commercially, will be the big peace-time job of the navy's big dirigibles.

Development of such a route as is proposed by the American Investigation Corporation, which is planning an airship service between New York and Chicago, navy authorities believe, will prove more difficult than of routes between points where fast mail or other service is not now provided.

However, they are keeping in close touch with the plans of the corporation, promoted by Dr. Johann Schuette of Germany.

The New York-Havana-Panama route, it is pointed out, would lie outside the Caribbean hurricane belt and for most part would lie along lines where constant contact could be maintained with weather stations which could warn of developing storms or trouble ahead.

In addition to mooring masts located at scheduled stopping points along the route, other masts might be set up at points where occasional emergency stops might be desirable, as Savannah, Ga., and perhaps Miami, Fla.

SUICIDE AT TAZEWELL LEAVES WIFE, SIX SMALL CHILDREN

W. L. Brooks, age 27, of Hoop, Tenn., committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun at Tazewell Thursday morning. Ill health and business worry is supposed to have been the cause.

The deceased was the foreman of a sawmill at Tazewell. After breakfast Thursday morning while his wife was outside the house he took a shotgun and, using a monkey wrench to fire it, instantly killed himself.

He is survived by a wife, six small children, two brothers, Dewey and Lon Brooks and one sister, Cassie Brooks. He was buried yesterday in the Campbell cemetery at Hoop.

WEALTH AND TROUBLE--CANDLER AND HIS FAVORITE SON HAVE PLENTY OF BOTH

ATLANTA, Ga., April 20.—Have riches and social prominence brought only sorrow and scandal to Asa G. Candler Sr. and his favorite son, Walter?

Father and son, the former the wealthiest citizen of the south, and the latter a millionaire bank director, are facing suits brought by women.

The father must defend a suit for $500,000 brought by Mrs. Onezima DeBouchel, famous New Orleans beauty, for breach of promise, while Walter is the defendant in a suit for $100,000 brought by Mrs. Clyde Byfield, young Atlanta matron, who alleges in her formal complaint Walter attacked her while she and her husband were his guest on a trip to Europe.

Both suits shortly will come to trial in Atlanta. Southern society is sitting on the edge of its upholstered chair waiting for them to start. The father's trial will be in the United States Court, while the son's will take place in the state court.

Breaks Engagement

Candler, Sr., in his reply to the suit, admitted he promised to wed Mrs. DeBouchel, but declared he suddenly broke the wedding engagement when accusations were made against her regarding her conduct during a Confederate veterans' reunion several years ago.

Candler met Mrs. DeBouchel at this reunion and, according to Mrs. DeBouchel's petition, wooed her ardently until she promised to become his bride.

Candler is 74, while Mrs. DeBouchel is much younger.

Mrs. Byfield, in her petition against Walter Candler, set forth that the attempted attack followed a wine supper on board the steamship Berengaria.

As a counter suit, Walter Candler has started legal action to prevent Clyde Byfield, husband of Mrs. Byfield, who also was a member of the European party, from collecting a note for $22,500 alleged to have been given Byfield by Candler in Paris.

Son Claims Blackmail

Candler claims it is blackmail. Byfield claims the money was rightfully due him.

A feature of this case is that Mrs. Walter T. Candler, who left for California with her mother and small son simultaneously with the departure of Candler and the Byfields for Europe, has returned to Atlanta, and says she will defend her husband against the attacks of the Byfields.

The suit brought by Mrs. DeBouchel against the aged Atlanta multimillionaire is not the first damage suit he has figured in with women on the opposing side.

A few years ago he had Mrs. Margaret Hirsch, a prominent matron of Atlanta, tried on a charge of attempted blackmail, together with "Handsome Bill" Cook, real estate salesman.

Candler also met Mrs. Hirsch at a reunion of Confederate veterans in Atlanta, and at the time was serving as mayor of Atlanta. Mrs. Hirsch and Cook both were found guilty of attempted blackmail, sentenced to jail and fined.

However, in the suit brought by

FOR A BETTER MIDDLESBORO
Specific improvements make up the details of a campaign for a BIGGER AND BETTER MIDDLESBORO, and a list is to be compiled of these details, for use from day to day. Today we are advocating:

That our passenger depot be made a cleaner, more sightly and more sanitary place at once, and that the utmost influence be brought to bear toward getting a new station.

That a general movement for street improvement be instituted immediately, with emphasis on repair and construction of Cumberland Avenue.

That a system of street marking be devised in this city so that a stranger or for that matter, a resident, can find his way around without undue inquiries.

That the ordinance prohibiting spitting in public places be rigidly enforced and the practice be condemned as repugnant and unsanitary.

That the spiritual side may not be neglected in the campaign for a Better Middlesboro, but rather that we should emphasize the importance of building spiritually as paramount to any material improvement.

That Middlesboro's lack of a fitting burial place be remedied and provisions for a city cemetery be made.

That every citizen of Middlesboro lend his wholehearted help in the Clean Up, Paint Up, Plant Up Campaign to be launched by the Woman's Club next week.

PRINCIPALS IN THE TWO SUITS, INVOLVING MEMBERS OF THE WEALTHY CANDLER FAMILY OF ATLANTA. TOP ROW, MRS. ONEZIMA DE BOUCHEL AND ASA CANDLER. BELOW, CANDLER'S SON, WALTER, AND MRS. CLYDE BYFIELD SUING HIM FOR $100,000.

Mrs. DeBouchel, Candler is facing a far different proposition.

Wants To Clear Name

Mrs. DeBouchel says she would have been perfectly willing to break the engagement at any time for any good reason whatsoever, but that she intends to make Mr. Candler tell who defamed her character, so that she may have a chance to vindicate her name.

Mrs. DeBouchel, who is reputed to be quite wealthy, says she will not stop her fight until the world knows that the charge is a vicious and malicious lie.

And so the storm swirls about the homes of Atlanta's wealthiest citizens.

Snapshots of Business Section
Show Why Clean Up is Needed

One of the most interesting and edifying sights brought to the interest of the Middlesboro public in some time is the collection of kodak pictures made by representatives of the Woman's Club to illustrate why Middlesboro needs a Clean Up Campaign. The collection is now on display in the Daily News window and consists of eleven scenes taken at random in the heart of Middlesboro. The scenes are mounted on a large piece of cardboard.

Two pictures were taken of the business section of Cumberland Avenue. One, taken between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets, on the south side of the street, looks at first glance like nothing so much as a dumping alley.

The other, at the extreme west end of the business section, is similar to a dirty country town scene. Two particularly dirty and littered scenes were taken back of Owensley's grocery store on Nineteenth Street, with one side to Cumberland Avenue. Another dump yard is pictured back of Moorman's office and still another repellent scene is taken on the canal bank, just back of the Brosheer-Brunnett hospital.

Three views from prominent public places speak for themselves, one from the post office, one from the Hotel Cumberland and one from the high school and city hall, on the canal banks. These three in themselves would make any average citizen start a clean up campaign.

Mute testimonials of the city's activities (?) are a picture of a pile of slag on Twentieth street, by the Weinstein building, which the picture compiler says has been there six months waiting to be used to fill in holes in Cumberland Avenue. Another is a diagram of one of the holes which might use the slag, just beneath the big "Boom" sign.

FIELD SUPERVISOR PRAISES
RED CROSS WORK DONE HERE

Splendid work is being done by the Red Cross here, according to Miss Margaret East, field supervisor, who is here inspecting conditions. She added that she hoped sufficient funds would be available to guarantee a continuance of the good work.

"Since I have been here I have been going over the records with Miss Marx," Miss East said, "and I find that she has been doing enough work for two people. From early in the morning until late in the evening she has been busy."

The supervisor has been in Middlesboro nearly all week and will be here until Monday.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL BEGINS TOMORROW

Pastor Will Conduct Meetings Tomorrow—Evangelist Jones To

Come Monday

Though Evangelist Joel Lee Jones will not arrive in Middlesboro until Monday, the revival services of the Christian church will begin Sunday morning, the Rev. A. B. Reeves, pastor, conducting the morning and evening services. The evangelist will preach his first sermon Monday night and will have charge of the meetings for the remainder of the campaign, which will last for two weeks.

Prayer meetings have been held each evening at the homes of members of the Christian church. Each of these has been successful and well attended. Interest in the coming religious campaign is at a high pitch and present indications are that the effects of the revival will be city-wide in their nature.

Details of the campaign will be entirely in charge of the Rev. Jones who is not only widely known as a successful evangelist but is also the pastor of a flourishing church at Hollidays Cove, W. Va. Well versed in theological subjects, he has the reputation of being a forceful and inspiring speaker and an evangelist with ability to ably conduct a revival campaign.

TWO HURT WHEN FREIGHT
ROLLS IN RIVER NEAR WALLINS

A freight train locomotive was derailed and rolled into the Cumberland river between Wallins and Ameron yesterday morning and Will Sveinberg head brakeman, and a fireman named Sutton were slightly injured, according to reports received from railroad men here. It is said that the wreck occurred where section men were putting in some new rails.

The train was making its regular run from Corbin to Evans. After the wreck, work of repairing the track began at once and traffic was resumed on the road within about five hours.

At last reports the locomotive had not been hauled from the river.

FAMILY NIGHT AT REVIVAL BIGGEST SERVICE OF SERIES

The most interesting service of the entire series of revival meetings was held at the First M. E. church by the Rev. O. H. Callis last night. It was "family night" and the congregation was composed mainly of groups of families. The sermon on the subject of "The Whole Family in Heaven" was very touching.

No meetings of any kind were held today, it being a period of rest for the evangelist and others who have been assisting in the meeting. The final meetings of the revival will be held tomorrow.

MYSTERY OF "BOOM"
FINALLY REVEALED
TO LOCAL PUBLIC

Tearing asunder the veil of secrecy which has enveloped "BOOM" and rendered it a five-day public mystery, Lynn D. Rouser, originator of the scene and creator of the ambiguous sign, boldly comes forward today and makes a full confession.

The printed sign is the inauguration of a campaign to increase the membership and attendance of the M. E. Church, South. Sunday school of which Mr. Rouser is superintendent. Its effects have been far-reaching, most people thinking it was an advertisement of the clean-up campaign, the Christian revival, a Republican party boom, Ku Klux warning, and other things.

All men wishing to attend the Sunday school tomorrow morning are requested to meet the police force at the public fountain on Twentieth street at 9:30 and march on mass to the church.

MASS MEETING FOR MINERS
AT JUNCTION 1 P. M. TOMORROW

A mass meeting for miners, their wives and children will be held at Stony Fork Junction at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, according to E. L. Reed, secretary of District 19, United States Mine Workers, who is in Middlesboro this afternoon. William A. Turnblazer, president of the union, is expected to arrive here this evening.

Officers of District 19, U. M. W. of A. and representatives of the national organization will address the meeting. The committee on arrangements composed of J. R. Turner, R. K. Sowers and W. A. Watson have the plans completed for a big meeting and all miners and their families from Middlesboro, Mingo and the Stony Fork section are cordially invited to attend.

NEGRO WANTED FOR ASSAULT IN MORRISTOWN TAKEN HERE

Will Senter, negro wanted for felonious assault at Morristown, Tenn., was arrested by the police here yesterday and returned to Morristown today by officers from that town. Chief H. E. Ball recently received a communication from J. F. Mathes, Sheriff of Hamblen county, which included a description of the negro. He had been here for some time and was employed at the Piedmont Hotel.

ANTI SALOON HEAD CALLS ACCUSERS

Asks Brooklyn Priest to Prove Charges of Bribery—Latter Evades Answering

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Apr. 21.—Wayne P. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, demanded today, that the Rev. Father John Belford of Brooklyn who said he recently heard that a United States senator received $150,000 for voting for the Eighteenth Amendment, furnish proper authorities with the name of the senator. Father Belford declared, "Wheeler needs no information from me; he can get it from his own people. I believe they know more than I do about members of Congress when they induced a vote for prohibition."

A THOUGHT

He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it; and who so breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.—Ecclesi, 10:8.

A man has no more right to say an uncivil thing than to act one; no more right to say a rude thing to another than to knock him down.—Johnson.

THE TIME FOR ACTION

The time for action on repairing Cumberland Avenue is at hand. Spring is here; autoists are increasing in number every day; farmers are needing to come to town almost every week. With the present awful condition of Cumberland Avenue rapidly growing worse, the arraignment of our system of street improvement will grow steadily in bitterness, and Middlesboro will suffer a loss of prestige which it will take years to regain.

It must not be allowed. If the city administration cannot do anything, the citizens must rise up and take the matter in their own hands. Something must be done with Cumberland Avenue at once if we are to go through with this summer and retain even the least semblance of respect and appreciation from our neighbors and from the citizens of our neighboring cities.

In August over a thousand Kiwanians from over this district will be here. We can better afford to spend thousands of dollars in temporary repair of our streets than to allow the visitors to come here and receive an unfavorable impression of our city which will remain with them as long as they live and which they will impart to others. It is impossible to conceive of the damage which will be done to Middlesboro and this region if this is permitted.

A patriotic citizen hit a responsive chord the other day when he suggested that the citizens of the town get permission from the mayor to fill up and repair the holes on Cumberland Avenue.

It's the thing! Where is the man, or the organization, that will take the first step? Let him step forward, and we know that the citizens will rise en masse to follow him. Now is the time for action.

THINKING YOU CAN

The barnyard hen spends the first few months of her life in the firm conviction that she can not fly.
A low fence is sufficient to keep her from straying into the neighboring garden.

One day a mischievous pup digs under the chicken wire and proceeds to chivy Mrs. Biddy.

Then she learns that she "must" fly, and fly she does.

After that either her wings must be clipped or a ten foot addition must be put on the fence to keep her from dining at the expense of the summer's vegetable crop!

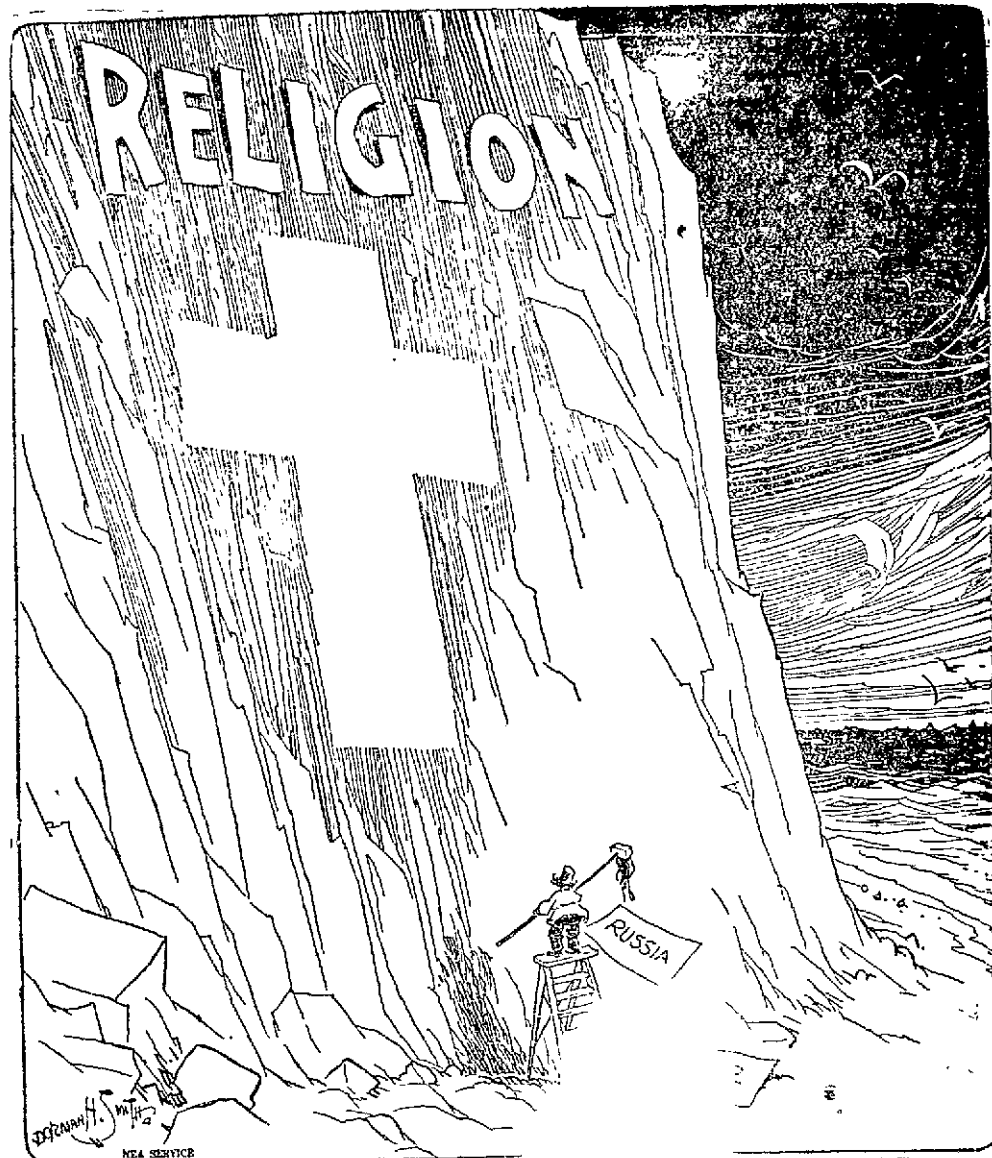

Recently a fairly bright young man, offered a promotion by the firm which employed him, announced that he was unable to do the work required in the higher position.

Another man got the place.
Three weeks later an epidemic laid up the three men ahead of him.

There was no one else to do the work. The self-deprecating youth had to do it.

And he did it so well, that he is now the head of the firm!

Most people go through life fancying that they can not do things that they could do very easily if they would only take the trouble to learn how to do them.

Mental inertia is as much of a handicap to the mind as physical inertia is to the body.

When, under special circumstances, these people find that they must do the things that they can not do, they proceed, to their own astonishment, to do them!

It is hardly advisable for people to wait till circumstances force them to exceed their fancied powers. Such circumstances come along far less often than opportunity.

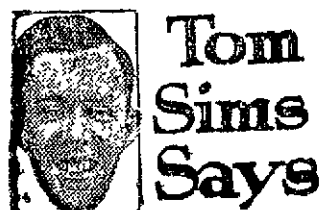

What is needed is the realization on the part of created beings, that they can do a great deal more than they think they can.

The men who fought the war made that discovery. And most of them returned to their own country better fitted mentally as a consequence.

There is a reservoir of ability in almost any one which is unsuspected (till it is tapped, either voluntarily or by some fortunate accident.

Fortunate accidents are rare. It is better that the person who possesses this reservoir should say to himself "I must."

If he does that he will soon be saying, "I can," and the man who is going to get ahead, and stay ahead in the race that we all are running.

BETTER FROM JOHN PRESCOTT NEWLYED, TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD:
I broke off suddenly in my letter to you the other day, for Leslie has the most absurd ideas about one's private correspondence. She wants to read all mine and tenders hers to me to read.

God knows, Syd, I do not want to read her letters full of trivial commonplaces and questions about people for whom I care nothing, and certainly I would not have her read my letters to you for the world. It would seem like giving up my entire liberty.

I want to tell you about my interview with Leslie's father. It was a "Lundinger."

He had me on the carpet that morning after I returned from that business (?) trip for about an hour and he had me going all right. I wasn't sure there was going to be a wedding when I made a clean breast of the affair with Paulette.

At that, Leslie's father is a good sport. In the first place he told me that he suspected from the first that my firm had not sent for me and in the second place he said he thought that I had bailed up matters greatly. That anyone of sense would have known I was lying and that you were aiding me. He said that only a loving woman who wanted to believe would have been fooled by either you or me.

He said that was why he was ready to forgive me, as it showed him I was not very proficient in the matter of deceiving.

Syd, I told him the whole story, and he said as you have, that I had made a consummate ass of myself. He said it more forcibly too. However, he continued that probably ninety-nine men out of a hundred do the same thing every day of their lives.

I asked him if he thought I had better tell Leslie and he answered no. He didn't think she would understand.

I gathered from what he said, although he made no assertions to that effect, that he thought what a woman didn't know wouldn't hurt her. I pigeon-holed that opinion for future use.

He assured me, however, that he would expect me to be absolutely devoted and true to his daughter after marriage, and he affirmed somewhat profanely that he didn't care a d— for me or my feelings in the matter, but he would not have his daughter made unhappy.

"Prescott," he said, "I have never made Leslie's mother suffer one pang of unhappiness on my account and I do not intend that she shall sorrow because some scoundrel like yourself has brought grief to one of her daughters." I felt pretty low down, Syd. The old man is white and, if for no other reason than because I want his respect. I am going to play the game straight from now on. JACK.

I have just found out that John is a lazy man. He is making me send all his souvenir postals to his friends as well as mine. Weather splendid, scenery beautiful. Prescotts happy. Leaving tonight.

I hope you are as happy as I am, dear Sally. Will write soon. LESLIE

John wishes me to say he hopes you arrived home safely and to tell you we are both very happy in the new life that we have just begun. Leslie Hamilton Prescott.

We are doing the conventional thing. Isn't Niagara Falls synonymous with brides? Leaving here tonight. Leslie Prescott.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem SAVOR OF SALT

Oh, the breeze blows salt from the ocean reaches Where the graybacks roll and the gray gull screeches, And it's I would salt the salt seas over, A deep-sea salt and an ocean rover. It's I would bear the fast stays singing And watch the stars, from the foretop swinging, With salt spray flying, the salt wind shrieking, The white wake boiling, the steel plates creaking! Where shall we go for our honeymoon? Not where the soft land breeze is crooning, But out at sea, out at sea together, Salt sea-lovers in the salt sea weather. For it's you that know how the great deep calls you And that have no fear of what fate befalls you, So we'll walk the decks where the salt spume hisses, With the smack of salt in our care-free kisses.

A bathing suit is fine for eating soup. Add goggles and you have a grapefruit eating costume.

WHEN I WAS QUEEN OF BABYLON

When I was Queen of Babylon,
In Babylon, the old, the rare,
A thousand slaves, each day, I ween,
Did plunder diamonds for my hair—
Chalcedony—rich merchandise—
Great opals, gold, to glad mine eyes—
And many princes found me fair,
In Babylon, when I was Queen.

When I was Queen in Babylon,
In Babylon, the old, the wise,
Cut emeralds blazed out their green
Upon my arms—between my eyes—
Ten slaves stood o'er me, with a fan
Of peacock plumes, from Turkistan—
Mine ears were set with pearls of size.
In Babylon, when I was Queen.

When I was Queen in Babylon,
In Babylon, the old, the white,
I was more fair than man hath seen—
My robes flashed forth a golden light—
Sapphires burned among my curls,
And half a score of dancing girls
Capered for ever in my sight,
In Babylon, when I was Queen.

When I was Queen in Babylon,
In Babylon, the old, the great,
Men kept their knives and daggers keen,
For woe to him who earned my hate:
Two snow-white leopards worked my will,

On those whom I had deigned to kill—
Yet—at my summons, none came late
In Babylon, when I was Queen.

When I was Queen in Babylon,
In Babylon, the old, the gay,
Kings kissed my jewelled sandals sheen,
Great chiefs bent humbly to my sway,
And if I chose to kill them all,
'Twas done—ran red my banquet-hall.
And none would dare to say to me nay,
In Babylon—for I was Queen!—Margaret C. Higgins.

TODAY'S RECIPES

BAKED SPRING CHICKEN

The following formula is given on the basis of two spring chickens, so that it may be reduced—or multiplied—proportionately, if need be. Sauge, clean and split the two chickens. Mix one-fourth cup of butter, two teaspoons of paprika, one-half teaspoon of salt and the juice of one-half lemon. Divide between the two chickens, which have been placed in a pan skin side down. Place in a hot oven and cook for ten minutes. Turn the chickens over, baste well with the butter and cook fifteen minutes, basting once or twice during that time. Usually the chickens are thoroughly cooked in twenty-five minutes, but if they do not seem to be done in that length of time, cook ten minutes longer. Serve at once on a hot platter, with butter and juices remaining in the pan poured over them.

BRAVEST MAN IN U. S. IS AFRAID OF WIFE

DANIEL R. EDWARDS BEING DECORATED BY MAJ.-GEN. BULLARD.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Daniel R.

Edwards has succeeded in collecting the finest pair of medals in the whole country—the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross.

Of all our war heroes, he alone of all living men holds the exclusive right to turn up his coat with both these coveted decorations.

But he doesn't admit it.

"Take Sergeant York—there's a real hero for you," he exclaimed admiringly.

"He did a smashing thing."

But I knew how Edwards got his Congressional Medal—how he lost his right arm and his right leg the same day at Soissons. After his arm had been torn away by a German shell he took his automatic in his left hand, pumped into the enemy's trench, and killed four men and took four prisoners.

While conducting them to the rear, his leg was shattered by a shell.

"Believe me or not, but that shot in the leg was a relief," he said. "I hadn't had any sleep for four days."

A gay time was had by all at the Paris Bastille Day celebration. Losing my leg brought me what I wanted more than anything else in the world—sleep."

This had not been so long after the incident which won him the Distinguished Service Cross. At Cantigny he was bayoneted early in the fight, but he dressed his own wounds and stuck by his guns. After all his gunners had been killed he remained in position throughout the day, firing at whatever target offered, withstanding liquid fire and machine guns until he was relieved late in the evening.

"Not nearly so tiring a task as learning to tie my shoe with my left hand," he assumed me. "There's something to try in your spare moments. I made a game of it. Timed myself every day and set out to break the record of the day before. Finally I worked it out by mathematics. Today I can tie one as quickly as you could."

"I've had lots of fun with my claw arm," he said. "I used to tell my aunt it operated from buttons on my vest and she actually believed me."

"Being blind for a year wasn't so bad either. You miss a lot of unhappy sights—and atrocious styles."

"Are you afraid of anything at all," I asked. He admitted two suppressed fears.

"One is that I may become the world's greatest living prevaricator," he explained. "Telling war stories—you know, every war story gets better every time you tell it."

Just then Mrs. Edwards came in. It seemed she wanted to buy a hat. Without a protest he dug down for the price.

"And the other fear?" I pursued.

"Mrs. Edwards," he replied, laughingly.

grounds here Saturday with the result of the home team being victorious. Both games were close, the basketball score being 30 to 28, and the baseball score, 4 to 3.

THE NEWS FROM PINEVILLE

PINEVILLE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE OVER BY 400 TO 12 VOTE

Appropriation $41,000 Assures New Auditorium, Gymnasium and Class Rooms, Greatly Needed Improvements

ELECTION LAST SPRING HELD ILLEGAL BY APPELLATE COURT

PINEVILLE, Apr. 21.—The bond issue for $41,000 which assures Pineville a new auditorium for the public schools, a gymnasium and added class rooms, carried Friday by approximately 400 to 12 votes.

The official count has not yet been announced but the victory is so overwhelming that there can be no doubt but what the issue has won.

Thirty-six thousand dollars was voted last spring but the election was called illegal by the court of appeals, so this election was necessary. The raise in taxation made it possible for a larger bond to be voted, hence the added $5,000. At the last meeting of the school board it was decided to add a domestic science department if the issue carried, so that seems practically assured for next year's program also.

Therefore there has been no place in the school building large enough for meetings of any sort. Chapel was held but the room was always overcrowded and for anything else it was necessary to make some other sort of arrangement. With the added auditorium and gym this will be eliminated. The basket ball games and gym work will be held there instead of the old Christian church, and when a play is staged, the students will be able to give them in the school building.

The increased number of pupils made the class room problem difficult but with the new building there will be a new home for the High school pupils, which will give ample room for the grades in the present structure.

SENIOR PLAY BIG SUCCESS

Effie Arnett Stars in "Much Ado About Betty"—All Parts Well Taken

PINEVILLE, Apr. 21.—"Much Ado About Betty" staged by the senior class of the Pineville High School for the benefit of the "Pine Cong." was a success financially and from a dramatic point of view. The play, which was given at the Gaines Theater Friday night, is a three act comedy. It was selected by the class and produced practically without supervision so that even more credit should be given the members of the cast.

If a favorite could be picked, it would probably be Effie Arnett, who played two parts as the maids. She was consistently good throughout and never lost character. Each, however, was good and the cast follows:

Lin Leonard, Edward Asher; Major Jarrett, Wayne Green; Ned O'Hare, Abe Isaacs; Mr. E. Z. Ostrich, Herbert Hollins; Dr. McNutt, Russell Crooks; Jim Wiles, Pat Carol; Officer Riley, Abe Isaacs; Officer Dugan, Russell Crooks; Archie, Pat Carol; Mr. Ebenezer O'Hare, Clarence Miracle; Mrs. Ebenezer, Elizabeth Kellums; Ann Whinnie, Jeannette Metcalf; Lizzie Montan, Effie Arnett; Ethel Kholer, Shirley Smith; Other Admirers of Betty, Katherine Davis, Edwin Patterson, Earl Van Bever and Gladys McDonald; Violet Ostrich, Florence R. Samuels; Mrs. Diggs, Shirley Smith, Daffodil, Diggs, Georgia Whitaker; Miss Chizle, Leona Greene; Pearl Brown, Effie Arnett; Violet Ethel Asher; Diamond, Irene Petty; Betty, Lucy Gragg.

BODY OF WOMAN IS FOUND PETRIFIED

COVINGTON, Ky., April 21.—The body of Mrs. Bernandina Burdick Herzog was found to be in large part petrified, when Lee Konnersman, sexton of the Mother of God cemetery to be placed beside that of her exhumed the body for the purpose of transferring it to another cemetery to be placed beside that of her husband, Ferdinand Herzog, who died last January.

Mrs. Herzog died six years ago and her remarried. Removal of the first Mrs. Herzog was ordered by Herzog's widow, Mrs. Emma Fisher Herzog, who, with relatives, was present when the grave was opened.

The weight of the casket which showed evidence of decay, caused an investigation. The body was said to have been in a perfect state of preservation and relatives readily recognized the features. Officials at the cemetery voiced the opinion that in a few more years the body would have been transformed into solid stone.

What had been the woman's skin had turned to an ash whiteness, with an extremely hard surface, the body appearing as if carved from marble. It is said the hair, which was grey when Mrs. Herzog died, retained its color and texture, and appeared to be natural hair growing from a marble statue.

Those familiar with the cemetery's locality say that a pond in the cemetery is supplied with water from underground springs, and the belief was voiced by physicians in Covington that the grave was near one of the springs, which was surrounded by limestone. The limestone-impregnated water seeped into the grave and left deposits which solidified following the lines of the body, physicians said.

The body was carried across the Ohio river and reburied in St. Joseph's cemetery.

"CAT AND CANARY" LEADING MAN EDUCATED AT U. OF T.

Robert Toms, leading man of "The Cat and the Canary," the famous mystery play that comes to the Manning Theatre on Monday, April 23rd and who alternated with Henry Hull during the New York engagement, is a native of Knoxville and was educated at the University of Tennessee.

Like many other successful actors young Mr. Toms began life with an entirely different ambition. At the University he specialized in agriculture and chemistry only to discover that his bent was not for farming. He went to New York and tried in turn stenography, bookkeeping and salesmanship and wondered all the time what it was that his soul was striving for. Then one day he was invited to take part in some society amateur theatricals and after the first performance he knew that the stage pointed the only way to success for him.

After much study he joined Donald Brian and Julia Sanderson in "The Siren" which enjoyed a long New York run; then he appeared for two seasons with John Barrymore, and later appeared in increasingly important roles in "Ready Money," "Way Down East," "The Misleading Woman" and "A Pair of Sixes." He became leading man with Fiske O'Hara and then was sent to Australia to play the juvenile leading roles in "Lightnin'" "The Three Wise Fools" and "Welcome Stranger." Upon his return he was engaged by Kibbourn Gordon, Inc. for the company that opened in "The Cat and the Canary" in February last and his success there led to his selection to head the company that appears in that thrilling play here.

FOR CONSTIPATION

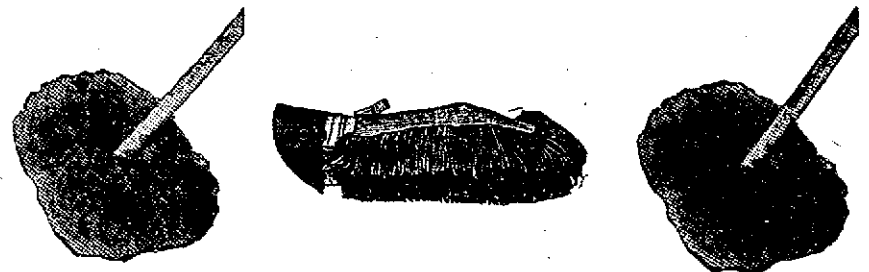

Black-Draught Recommended by an Arkansas Farmer Who Has Used It, When Needed, for 25 Years.

Hatfield, Ark.—Mr. G. W. Parsons, a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my home all the time. It is the best all-around medicine I have ever found for the liver and for constipation. We began using it 25 or more years ago and have used it whenever needed since. I have never found any other medicine as good for constipation, and that was what I suffered with till I began using Black-Draught. Black-Draught corrected this condition, and now we use it for the liver and for indigestion—a tight and sluggish feeling after meals, for bad taste in the mouth and sour stomach."

"My wife uses it for headache and biliousness. It sets on our shelf and we don't let it get out. It has been a great help to us. I believe a great deal of sickness is caused by hurried eating and constipation, and Black-Draught, if taken right, will correct this condition."

Make THE Backyard Pay

During the latter part of April, the planting schedule for the home gardener should include such things as string beans, sweet corn, leaf lettuce and the second crops of peas and radishes, gardening specialists at the College of Agriculture say.

Sweet corn should be more universally grown and used in Kentucky and when once used will be found much more desirable for table use than the

the last killing frost as given by the weather bureau indicated that it is safe to plant this crop after April 20. For hand cultivation, beans should be planted in rows 18 to 24 inches apart and a quart of seed used for each 100 feet of row. It takes from 40 to 65 days for them to mature for use on the table.

Spring care of the rhubarb plants is one of the things that should not be overlooked in getting the garden ready at this time of the year, the specialists say. The ground around the plants should be worked thoroughly in the spring and a little well-rotted manure worked into the soil. Many gardeners follow the plan of putting a bushel or a bushel and a half of manure in a barrel and then filling the barrel more than half full with water, afterwards using this mixture to fertilize the soil around the rhubarb in their gardens. This gives earlier stalks for cutting than if no fertility is applied.

Kentucky League of Women Voters Meeting April 27-28 to Take Matters Up

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 19.—The field of battle over the question of American membership in the Permanent Court of International Justice will shift from Des Moines, Ia., to Louisville this month when the same national figures, who have stirred up the question at the National League of Women Voters convention in Des Moines will, appear in the Kentucky State convention of the League April 27-28 at The Seelbach Hotel here.

That women are to play a prominent part in the movement to prevent this country from being involved in future wars became apparent through the fact that Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, choose the Des Moines convention to make the vastly important announcement that the Harding administration is for the International Court. Two of the most outstanding women in the field of international affairs at the convention, Justice Florence Allen of Ohio State Supreme Court and Miss Ruth Morgan of New York will speak at the Kentucky women's meeting April 28, when the important question of the attitude to be taken by the women of this State will be thrashed out.

"Kentucky women must face this question," Mrs. Samuel C. Henning of Louisville, president of the State League, said yesterday. "All feminine instincts are against war, but women will not, and cannot, be effective in making over their sentiments into concrete measures for the avoidance of war unless they take an active part in politics. No woman in Kentucky, who has a son to offer to the God of War, can afford to stay away from the Louisville convention of the State League of Women Voters."

FIVE—When two players collide in going after a batted ball and suffer injury, when is the proper time for the umpire to suspend play?

TWO—He is exempted from an error if he manages to force out a runner after dropping a fly ball.
THREE—On a double or triple steal, if one of the runners is retired, none of the others are credited with a stolen base.
FOUR—On all such plays, the player who would have made the putout is credited with it, when the action of the runner prevents the completion of the play.
FIVE—Time cannot be called until all chances for a play have ceased and the pitcher stands on the rubber with the ball in his possession.

AMERICANISM DAY PLANNED APRIL 27

American Legion Denotes Day to Promote Progress Along Citizenship Lines

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 21.—"Americanism Day," to be observed April 27 by 11,500 American Legion posts throughout the country will include definite steps for progress along the lines of citizenship according to plans and programs announced by Garland W. Towell, national director of the Americanism Commission of the Legion.

On this day, churches, communities, civic gatherings will assail the influence of red' propagandists in meetings destined to arouse the citizenry against the furtherance of the work of revolutionists who seek the overthrow of the existing government. The day has been chosen by the Legion, believed by many to be the greatest force for propagation of the ideals of the United States to offset the celebration of 'May Day,' taken by the "reds" as their annual field day for the dissemination of principles undermining and destructive of government. The general outline of the celebration to be held by the Legion and which is receiving the cooperation of civic, patriotic, religious and fraternal organizations, will be to counteract in advance the effect of the 'May Day' meetings of the communists, to expose the fallacy of their proposals to show the benefits of the principles of government of the United States.

The program outlined by Mr. Towell contains suggestions for the betterment of the community along the lines of Americanism. Community singing of national airs, devout moments of prayer for the success of the nation, receptions for newly naturalized residents to show the community's interest in their accession to citizenship and efforts to establish respect for law and order are among the activities of the suggested program.
